Recently I've read a book by Fedor Mikhailovich Dostoevskiy. It's called "Prestuplenie i Nakazanie" or in English "The crime and the punishment". It tells the tale of a university student Rodion Raskolnikov in which he kills a vicious old lady who singlehandedly runs a pawn shop. Afterwards it tells us about the punishment he received for his crime, especially the moral repercussions such as guilt and paranoia. The whole story draws the reader in, probably due to the superb writing style of Dostoevsky. You'll only be able to stop once you are finished. The book also masterfully explores the human physiology allowing the reader to gain insights into the inner workings of a human soul. I believe that this story is a must read for anyone who wants to understand himself better all the while pleasantly spending time.

I would like to write a review about book called "Wee from wit". It was written by famous Russian poet and diplomat of 18-19 centuries Alexander Griboedov.

It is a very interesting play with catching plot: ~~young man, his name is~~ Alexander Chatshiy, comes back to Moscow from his long travel full of joy and excitement, but people who were close to him ~~are not happy to see him, they~~ call him crazy because his view of the world differs from their. Chatshiy thinks that the way how people in his country live is too old and stupid. His story becomes dramatic when he understands that the girl he loves doesn't love him back. To make the story short, Chatshiy says that he ~~doesn't~~ can't put up with the way how people think, how unfair they live, ~~how they always try to each other,~~ and that he's leaving Moscow forever. I really recomend you to read it!

Checkhov's story "The chameleon" is a satire book. The author laugh at people's weaknesses such as hypocrisy and love of power. The main characters are Ochumelov, Khrumin and general Zhigalov. The plot centres round a common accident when a dog bites Khrumin. Ochumelov notices all this and starts investigation. Later he learns that the dog belongs to the general and says that it was Khrumin's fault. But soon he changes his opinion when he learns that it is not the dog of the general. So, who has power is always right. People like chameleons changes the opinion depending on the situation. And they don't have their own opinion. I like this book because it is interesting and funny and I think all will like it.

Last summer I read the book "War and peace", which was written by the famous English writer Lev Tolstoy. It is a ~~different~~ historical romance. ^{lex}

I liked this book very much. From the very beginning. First of all, Lev Tolstoy is one of my favorite writers. Besides, the plot of the story was extremely interesting ~~and the action~~ and exciting. ^{sp}

The book tells us about a people's life of the 19th century. ^{gr}

There are some tragic and thrilling episodes in the book.

My favourite one is death of Andrey Bolconskiy. ^{gr}

To cut along story short, Rostova Natasha and Plev Bezukhov have married.

I would like to say that historical romance and drama are my favourite genre. When I read them, I always try to predict the events, to draw conclusions and it helps me to develop some ^{lex}

^{sp} kind of deductive reasoning.

On the whole the book is good. It is worth reading.
